Background and Legal Context

This document was written with reference to the Children and Families Act 2014 and associated regulations, the revised Special Educational Needs Code of Practice 2014, and the SEN & Disability Act 2010 and the Special Educational Needs and Disability Regulations 2014 (See Appendices).

All schools are required to publish an 'SEND information' report showing the arrangements for the admission of children with SEND. (Refer to the following policies: Accessibility and Equality)

Introduction

At Knebworth primary and Nursery school we embrace the fact that every child is different and as such, so are their educational needs. Knebworth Primary and Nursery School is an inclusive school and is committed to ensuring all children have access to quality first teaching and learning in the classroom. Some children may be identified as having additional needs and as a school we have a range of provisions which may be offered where appropriate. This provision is over and above the Quality First Teaching which is the entitlement for all children.

Definition of SEND

The definition of Special Educational Needs, as outlined in the SEN Code of Practice 2014:

A pupil has SEN where their learning difficulty or disability calls for special educational provision, namely provision different from or additional to that normally available to pupils of the same age. (SEND Code of Practice 2015 6.15)

Children fulfil this criteria if they:

- have significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of children of the same age
- have a disability that prevents or hinders them from making use of the educational facilities that are provided for children of the same age
- are under school age and fall within the definitions above or
- have emotional or behavioural difficulties that interfere with their ability to learn

Children must not be regarded as having a SEND needs solely because:

- they have a disability
- the language of their home is different from the language in which they will be taught
- slow progress or low attainment
- persistent disruptive or withdrawn behaviours

Aims and Objectives

All children and young people are entitled to an education that enables them to make progress so that they:

- achieve their best
- become confident individuals leading fulfilling lives, and
- make a successful transition into adulthood, whether into employment, further or higher education or training

Identifying SEN

The SEND Code of Practice 2014 identify four broad areas of need. When assessed pupils needs may fall into one or more areas and may change over time.

- Communication and Interaction
(Children have difficulty with speech, language and communication)
- Cognition and Learning
(Children with difficulties in accessing learning)
- Social, Emotional and Mental Health difficulties
- Sensory and /or Physical needs

See appendix 1 for further information concerning each area.

All schools should have a clear approach to identifying and responding to SEND. The benefits of early identification are widely recognised –identifying need at the earliest point and then making effective provision improves long-term outcomes for the child or young person. (SEND Code of Practice 2016 6.14)

Initially, Knebworth Primary School assesses each pupil's current skills and levels of attainment on entry, building on information from previous settings, key stages and other professionals where appropriate. Across the key stages the school has consistent and robust measures in place to monitor the attainment and progress of all children. Daily, weekly and termly monitoring and assessment procedures are conducted by all teachers and the Inclusion Team. There are termly pupil progress meetings (PPM), which serve to identify any pupils who may be presenting with difficulties in any of the four broad areas of need. (As highlighted above)

Teachers will then respond to any highlighted children by first adapting and exploring new strategies for removing barriers through quality first teaching. If children continue to be highlighted during Pupil progress meetings, it may indicate possible SEND. Some of the indicators for children with SEND are:

- lower than average overall attainment and or slow progress
- social and emotional difficulties e.g. Withdrawal, poor concentration, friendship issues, aggression
- difficulties accessing learning in specific or a range of lessons
- lack of interest in school life
- poor speech and language
- physical disabilities which present barriers to learning

Slow progress and low attainment do not necessarily mean that a child has SEND and should not automatically lead to a pupil being recorded as having SEND. However, these may be an indicator of a range of learning difficulties or disabilities.

For some children, SEND can be identified at an early age. However, for other children and young people difficulties become evident only as they develop. Working closely and in partnership with parents/carers and the children themselves are essential in identifying possible causal factors and ensuring that there is a holistic approach to support. For children who are experiencing more complex, specific learning issues outside agencies may be contacted. In some cases a multi-agency approach may be appropriate if others, outside factors are contributing to the child's learning or social/emotional difficulties. In all cases, early identification and intervention can significantly impact on positive outcomes.

In addition, Knebworth School will ensure that appropriate provision for a child's short-term needs are made, in order to prevent problems escalating and impacting on their long-term wellbeing, e.g. bullying or bereavement. Further guidance on dealing with bullying issues can be found on the GOV.UK website.

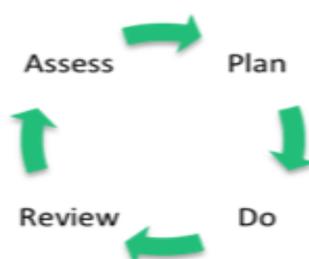

Identifying and assessing SEND for children or young people whose first language is not English requires particular care. Knebworth School will look carefully at all aspects of a child or young person's performance in different areas of learning and development or subjects to establish whether lack of progress is due to limitations in their command of English or if it arises from SEND or a disability. Difficulties related solely to limitations in English as an additional language are not SEND.

SEND provision -Cycle of Support

Where a pupil is identified as having SEN, schools should take action to remove barriers to learning and put effective special educational provision in place. This SEND support should take the form of a four part cycle. ....this is known as the graduated approach.

(SEND Code of Practice 2015 6.44)

At Knebworth we believe that quality first teaching with effective and appropriate differentiation for all pupils is the first step to responding to all children including those who have or may have SEN. The school has a series of robust measures in place to regularly review the quality of teaching and access those who may be at risk of underperforming. In addition, the Inclusion Team meet regularly with class teachers through Inclusion surgeries and termly PPM meeting (pupil progress meetings) where each child is discussed and the need and level of provision is established. Where a pupil is identified as having SEND the SEND support takes form in a four part cycle known as "the graduated approach"

Assess

In deciding whether to make special educational provision for a child the class teacher together with the Inclusion Team, and external agencies if appropriate will gather a range of information to inform their decisions. The parents and child will be a key part of the process and will work alongside the professionals, to give a holistic and child centred approach.

Plan

If the child is identified as needing additional provision, on top of quality first teaching, then in consultation with parents and the child, necessary adjustments, interventions and support will be implemented. This may take the form of a pupil profile with clear, measurable targets, expected outcomes and review dates.

Do

The class teacher remains responsible for any additional support and interventions. The Inclusion Team supports the teacher in the classroom to ensure effective and appropriate differentiation and to implement and assess any additional provision. Pupil profiles will be regularly reviewed to ensure that the provision is making an impact.

Review

The views of the parents and child will be consulted and the impact of the additional support evaluated. The outcomes of the particular provision will be analysed and new targets will be set if appropriate.

Educational, health and care plan

Some children, who present with more complex needs, may meet the criteria for a request for an Education Health and Care Plan assessment. The child's needs will be assessed by professionals within the Local Authority. If a child is awarded an Education Health and Care Plan it is the school's responsibility to work with outside agencies and Local Authority to provide the appropriate resources to meet the needs of the individual. The EHCP will be reviewed every 12 months. All children who have a statement of Special Educational Needs will be converted to an Education, Health and Care Plan, in line with a Local Authority conversion timetable. If it is felt that a child has 'exceptional needs' the Inclusion Team can request funding for extra support from the Local Authority.

Inclusion Register

A child will be placed on the Inclusion register using the following codes

K = SEND Support

(within school or from outside agencies)

E = Education, Health and Care Plan

Multi Agency Involvement

At Knebworth Primary and Nursery School we believe in working together, with other professionals in a multi-agency model. We may involve specialists at any point to advise us on early identification of SEND and effective support and interventions. If a child or family has more complex needs in which support is required from more than one agency then a CAF (Common Assessment Framework) will be considered with Parental consent. Subsequent meetings, TAFs, (Team Around the family) can be held where all professional working with that child can share information, collaborate together and plan appropriate targets.

Medical Conditions

At Knebworth School we will endeavour to make reasonable adjustments/arrangements to support any child with a medical condition or health issue. Individual care plans and/or Education, Health and Care Plans will specify the type and level of support required to meet the medical needs of the pupils. If the child also has SEND their provision will be planned and delivered in conjunction with the care plan.

Transitions

For all children times of transition can be challenging but for pupils with additional needs this can be even more so. At Knebworth School we have a transition programme in place between each Key Stage and year groups. To support transition between primary and secondary education, information is shared fully. Individualised transition programmes are in place and our most vulnerable Year 6 children receive external support with transition.

Complaints

If parents wish they can arrange a meeting with the class teacher or INCO through the school office at any time. There is also a copy of the School Complaints Procedures available in the school office.
